The Types of Information We Collect

We collect information that identifies, relates to, is reasonably capable of being associated with a particular living person or household ("Personal Information"). Privacy laws around the world describe Personal Information using a number of different terms, including personal data and personally identifiable information. For the purposes of this Privacy Policy, we use the term Personal Information with the intention that it be interpreted to mean the same thing as these other terms. If there is a specific type of Personal Information that has its own definition, we will provide that definition and use that name specifically (such as Sensitive Personal Information).

Various privacy laws exclude certain types of information from the respective definitions of Personal Information. For your awareness, Personal Information does not include:

- Publicly available information from government records;
- Deidentified or aggregated consumer information; or,
- Information excluded from the scope of applicable privacy laws (including the CCPA and GDPR), like:
 - health or medical information covered by the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) and the California Confidentiality of Medical Information Act (CMIA) or clinical trial data;
 - Personal Information covered by certain sector-specific privacy laws, including the Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA), the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (GLBA) or California Financial Information Privacy Act (FIPA), and the Driver's Privacy Protection Act of 1994.

The privacy laws also refer to the individuals or households from which Personal Information is collected a number of ways, including as data subjects or consumers. We use the term "consumer" in this Privacy Policy to avoid using unnecessarily abstract terms, but that term, as we use it, is the same as a data subject and includes customers, job applicants, and our business-to-business contacts. Please note that if you are an employee of Five Guys, or their dependent or emergency contact, a separate privacy policy applies to you and is available through Five Guys' human resources information systems. If you do not have access to those systems, please contact us for assistance by using the information in the "Contact Us" section below.

We have chosen to disclose this information broadly so that all of Five Guys' consumers are aware of our privacy practices, however, subject to the law where you reside, only certain categories of consumers may be able to exercise the rights described in the "Your Privacy Rights and Choices" section below.

The below chart contains a category of Personal Information labelled "Sensitive Personal Information." Under the applicable privacy laws, "Sensitive Personal Information" means Personal Information that reveals: (1) a consumer's social security, driver's license, state identification card, or passport number; (2) a consumer's account log-in, financial information, debit card, or credit card number in combination with any required security or access code, password, or credentials allowing access to an account; (3) a consumer's precise geolocation (within a circle with a radius of 1,750 or less); (4) a consumer's racial or ethnic origin, religious or philosophical beliefs, or union membership; (5) the contents of a consumer's mail, email, and text messages unless the business is the intended recipient of the communication; or, (6) a consumer's genetic data. Sensitive Personal Information also include: (a) the processing of biometric information for the purpose of uniquely identifying a consumer; (b) Personal Information collected and analyzed concerning a consumer's health (mental or physical); and, (c) Personal Information collected and analyzed concerning a consumer's sex life or sexual orientation. In some states, the term "Sensitive Personal Information" also includes Personal Information collected from a known child younger than 13 years of age and information related to a consumer's citizenship or immigration status.

Regardless of what state you live in that regulates the collection and use of Sensitive Personal Information, Five Guys does not use the types of information listed in the "Sensitive Personal Information" definition, above, to develop inferences about you.

In particular, in the prior 12 months we have collected the following categories of Personal Information from the listed categories of consumers:

Please note that there are places on our Websites where a third party can provide your Personal Information (or you can provide a third party's Personal Information), such as the "Refer a Friend" feature on the <https://www.joinfiveguys.com/>. If you provide a third party's Personal Information through the use of these features, you are making a representation that you have that third party's permission to provide their Personal Information and that they have agreed to the terms of this Privacy Policy. Where such features are made available, Five Guys will only use that information for the purpose for which it is given and does not otherwise store or use that information.

Personal Information Collected Via Technology

When you visit the Five Guys Websites, including our web forms, we and our service providers acting on our behalf automatically collect certain information using tracking technologies like cookies, web beacons, and similar technologies. We use this information to understand how visitors to our websites use them and which pages and features of the websites are most popular. This helps us understand how we can improve our websites and track performance of our advertisements and marketing emails that are sent to you. In addition, we use tracking technologies to help improve the navigation experience on the Websites.

A cookie is a piece of data contained in a very small text file that is stored in your browser or elsewhere on your hard drive. Cookies allow us to identify your device as you navigate our websites or your account. This makes navigating and interacting with our websites or your account more efficient, easy, and meaningful for you.

By themselves, cookies do not identify you specifically. Rather, they recognize your web browser. So, unless you identify yourself specifically to Five Guys, such as by signing into your account, we do not know who you are just because you visited our website. We use both session and persistent cookies. Session cookies are cookies that disappear from your computer or browser when you turn off your computer. Persistent cookies stay on your computer even after you have turned it off. Additionally, the cookies on our websites fall into five categories: (1) Strictly Necessary Cookies, (2) Functional Cookies, (3) Performance Cookies, (4) Social Media Cookies, and (5) Targeting Cookies. To learn more about each category of cookie, you can visit our cookie consent tool by clicking on the "Cookie Preferences" link on cookie banner for the Website you are visiting. If you have already selected your cookie preferences, you can clear cookies through your browser and revisit the Website, which will cause the cookie banner to reappear. You can also manage your cookie preferences by clicking the green "Manage Allowed Cookies" button in the lower lefthand corner of our Websites.

In addition to cookies, Five Guys uses "pixels" to enable certain cookies or advertisements on the Websites and to track the number of times a link or advertisement is served on a webpage. A pixel is a tiny image that is loaded when you visit our Websites or open our marketing emails, but instead of calling up an image, it causes a cookie or application to be downloaded. Pixels can be used to track user activities, track the number of times a user has viewed a particular link or advertisement, track and optimize website traffic, display advertisements, keep track of advertising commissions, and otherwise collect data for online marketing and website analysis. As with cookies, our Websites utilize both session pixels and persistent pixels.

We also use cookies and tracking/marketing pixels for four general purposes: (1) to ensure the functionality, optimization, and ease of use of our Websites; (2) to ensure and maintain the security of our Websites; (3) to collect anonymous, statistical data regarding how visitors interact with the Websites; and, (4) for marketing purposes. We also utilize the tools available through Google Analytics in order to monitor site flow and statistical data regarding our Website users.

The cookies that we use for functionality and security purposes are considered Functional or Strictly Necessary cookies, without which the Site would not function properly. These cookies allow some of the basic functions of our Websites to work properly, such as remembering your preferences as you navigate the Websites. In addition, these cookies help us secure the Websites by preventing cross-site request forgery attacks and by throttling excessive request rates.

We also use cookies to collect statistical information regarding how visitors interact with our Websites and to track repeat visits to our Websites. While these cookies collect information regarding how you use our Websites in order to help us understand site flow and improve our website, all such statistical data is anonymous and does not personally identify you. These types of cookies are Performance Cookies.

Finally, we use both cookies and pixels on our Websites for marketing purposes, including: to check whether your browser supports the use of cookies, to deliver general advertisements from third party advertisers, to present targeted advertisements to particular Website visitors, to track the particular advertisements that have been displayed to you, to collect data regarding how you interact with YouTube videos across different websites, to track your browser activity across devices and marketing channels, to track the actions you take after viewing an advertisement in order to measure the efficacy of the advertisement, and to display particular advertisements in order to re-engage visitors that are likely to convert to customers based on those visitors' online behavior across websites. These types of cookies are either Social Media or Targeting Cookies.

Depending on where you live, our Websites may place cookies on your devices after you have interacted with the cookie banner made available on the Website you are visiting. In some regions, you will be required to opt-in to use of cookies by our Websites, with the exception of Strictly Necessary Cookies, which are always in use and are required for our Websites to operate. In other regions, you will have the option to opt out of the use of cookies by our Websites (except with respect to Strictly Necessary Cookies, which are required for our Websites to operate). Regardless of where you reside, you have the option to manage the cookies we use in connection with the Websites through the cookie consent settings and preferences centers made available to you on the Websites. If you have previously accepted cookies but wish to change that preference, you will need to clear your browser's cookies before revisiting the website and making a new selection about the types of allowed cookies. Using the preference centers to manage cookies without clearing the saved cookies through your browser settings will stop new cookies from downloading to your device in accordance with your preference election, but it will not delete any cookies that have previously been downloaded. You need to take the step to delete your cookies because they are downloaded to your browser or device and our Websites and the cookie banners on them do not have the ability to perform those deletions on your behalf. If you want to accept more types of cookies, you can simply interact with the cookie preference center without a need to clear the preexisting saved cookies. If you have previously interacted with the cookie banner and made an election about your cookie preferences, you will not see the cookie banner again until the permissions expire with respect to the accepted cookies.

In addition to using our preference centers, you can use your browser settings to opt out of most categories of cookies, with the exception of Strictly Necessary Cookies. Some browsers allow a "do not track" (DNT) setting that requests that a web application disable its tracking of an individual user. When you choose to turn on the DNT setting in your browser, your browser will send a special signal to websites, analytics companies, ad networks, plug-in providers, and other web services you encounter while browsing and stop tracking your activity. To set up DNT, you can visit the All About DNT page. If you do choose to set up DNT, our cookie banner has been designed to automatically turn off all non-required cookies on Five Guys' Websites for you. Please note that this may impact the functionality of our Websites or your account.

Please be aware that the "Gift Cards" website, available at <https://fiveguys.cashstar.com/>, is operated by our trusted partner, Cashstar Inc., a subsidiary of Blackhawk Network Holdings, Inc., and is not controlled or operated by Five Guys. Information collected through that website, including any information collected using automated collection technologies, is subject to Cashstar's privacy policy and uses Cashstar's cookie banner, which may not operate in the same way as the cookie banner on Five Guys-operated Websites. For more information, we encourage you to review Cashstar's privacy policy, which is available at: <https://blackhawknetwork.com/privacy-policy?locale=en-us>.

Several of the companies that utilize cookies or other tracking or monitoring mechanisms enable you to opt out of advertising through mechanisms established by trade groups. To learn more about how to opt out of targeting and advertising cookies, you can go to the Your Online Choices page, the Network Advertising Initiative page, and the Digital Advertising Alliance's Consumer Choice page. These opt-out tools are provided by third parties, not Five Guys. We do not control or operate these tools or the choices that advertisers and others provide through these tools.

Global Privacy Control (GPC) is a technical specification that you can use to inform websites of your privacy preferences in regard to ad trackers. To set up GPC, you can visit the Global Privacy Control page. If you do choose to set up GPC, we will automatically turn off all non-required cookies on Five Guys' Websites for you. Please note that this may impact the functionality of our Websites.

How We Use Your Personal Information

We may use or disclose the Personal Information we collect for one or more of the following purposes:

1. To fulfill or meet the reason you provided the information. For example, if you share your name and contact information to ask a question about our products or services, we will use that Personal Information to respond to your inquiry. If you provide your Personal Information to purchase a product or service, we will use that information to process your payment and facilitate delivery. If you provide Personal Information to enter a contest or sweepstake, we will use that information to process your entry and to contact you to fulfill the terms of that contest or sweepstake if you win. We may also save your information to facilitate new product orders or process returns. If you provide Personal Information to apply for a job with Five Guys, we will use that information to review and process your application.
2. To provide, support, personalize, and develop our Services, products, and services.

your interests, including targeted offers and ads through our Services, third-party sites, and via email or text message (with your consent, where required by law).

6. To provide you with Five Guys related information, promotions, offers, products, or services that you request from us or that you have consented to receive via email direct marketing.

We use your precise geolocation when you place an order through our Mobile App if you have configured the application settings and your mobile device's location settings to allow the use of precise geolocation. The precise geolocation data allows the Mobile App to communicate with the store from which you placed your order so that we can ensure your order is hot and ready when you arrive. If your settings do not allow the use of precise geolocation, the Mobile App will use an approximate location that does not meet the definition of a precise geolocation. Regardless of your settings, your geolocation is only collected from your Mobile App when you have placed an order, is only associated with the individual order placed, is only collected while your Mobile App is open, and is only retained for a period of 30 days for the purpose of fulfilling support inquiries. Following that 30-day retention period, precise geolocation data is purged or deidentified such that the data cannot be used to identify you or your device. Use of precise geolocation is performed only on a strict opt-in basis, and you can revoke your consent to that usage at any time by updating your Mobile App and device settings.

We will not collect additional categories of Personal Information or use the Personal Information we collected for materially different, unrelated, or incompatible purposes without providing you advance notice. We will not perform any automated decision-making processes involving the information that we collect and, as such, do not engage in "profiling" as defined under the applicable privacy laws. For clarity, in addition to not generally engaging in "profiling" as defined under the applicable privacy laws, Five Guys does not engage in "profiling" in furtherance of decisions that produce legal effects or other similarly significant effects concerning a consumer.
